

VAPS Akshaya Foundation

Punyakoti Goshala — Chatbot Knowledge Base

Ramanagar, Karnataka · vapsfoundation.org

40+

Desi Cows

15+

Calves

400+

Total Cattle

2018

National Awards

1. About the Goshala

Q: What is VAPS Akshaya Foundation?

A: VAPS Akshaya Foundation is a registered trust that runs Punyakoti Goshala — a shelter and breeding centre for indigenous (Desi) cows in Karnataka. The foundation is driven by cow devotees who combine their professional expertise with a deep love for Indian tradition (Sanskriti).

Q: Where is the Goshala located?

A: The main Goshala campus is situated in Ramanagar, Karnataka. The registered office address is No. 72, MIG 1st Stage, 4th Main, 6th Cross, KHB Colony, Basaveshwaranagar, Bangalore — 560079.

Q: How many cows and calves are there?

A: The Goshala currently shelters 40+ cows and 15+ calves. The Ramanagar facility has grown to accommodate more than 400 cattle overall.

Q: What breeds are maintained here?

A: We primarily maintain indigenous breeds including Hallikar, Gir, and Malenad Gidda — all highly valued in Ayurveda and natural farming. The Government of Karnataka has recognised us as a Best Breeding Centre for these breeds.

Q: What awards has the Goshala received?

A: In 2018, the Goshala was awarded the prestigious 'Kamadhenu' National Award and the 'Gopalarathna' National Award for its contributions to indigenous cow conservation.

2. Mission & Values

Q: What is the mission of VAPS Akshaya Foundation?

A: Our mission is to preserve and promote Desi cows, Indian Sanskriti, Ayurveda, and natural farming. We run the Goshala both in traditional and scientific ways so it becomes self-sustaining through its own income.

Q: Why is maintaining a Goshala challenging?

A: Setting up a Goshala is a one-time investment, but daily maintenance is the hardest part — every cow needs nutritious food every single day. This makes feed a significant recurring expense. Our aim is to generate income from the cows themselves so the Goshala can sustain itself.

Q: How is the Goshala funded?

A: The Goshala is maintained through three sources: income from sale of cow products (milk, ghee, etc.), monthly contributions from the founders, and donations from cow devotees and well-wishers.

Q: What other activities does the foundation carry out?

A: Beyond the Goshala, the foundation teaches farmers about the importance of Desi cows in agriculture, educates the public on Goseva and Gopuja, collects and preserves old Ayurveda and Vedic literature, and teaches people about medicinal plants. Through the 'Annadatha Sukhibhava Scheme', around 60 cows and bulls have been donated free of cost to deserving farmers.

3. Products & Sales

Q: What products does the Goshala sell?

A: We sell pure Desi cow products including A2 milk, ghee, and other cow-based items. Every product made at the Goshala is a symbol of purity and quality.

Q: Why does the Goshala sell products?

A: Selling products is the primary income source that helps meet the daily recurring costs of feeding and caring for the cows. Without this income, the Goshala would rely entirely on donations, which are unpredictable.

Q: Where can I buy your products?

A: Products are available directly at the Goshala. Please visit our website at vapsfoundation.org or contact us for delivery and package options.

Q: Are your products pure and authentic?

A: Yes. All products come directly from our indigenous Desi cows which are raised traditionally and scientifically with nutritious feed. There are no additives or adulterants — the cows and their welfare are our top priority.

4. Desi Cow & Ayurveda

Q: What makes Desi cows special?

A: Indian indigenous (Desi) cow breeds like Hallikar, Gir, and Malenad Gidda produce A2 milk, which is considered healthier and more easily digestible than A1 milk from foreign breeds. In Ayurveda, all five products of the Desi cow (Panchagavya) are considered sacred and medicinal.

Q: What is Panchagavya and why is it important?

A: Panchagavya refers to the five substances derived from the Desi cow — milk, curd, ghee, urine, and dung. It has been used in Ayurveda and traditional Indian medicine for centuries for its health and agricultural benefits.

Q: How are Desi cows useful in natural farming?

A: Cow dung and urine are key inputs in natural farming — used as fertilisers, pest repellents, and soil conditioners. Our team actively teaches farmers how to use Desi cows to improve their agricultural output sustainably.

5. Donations & Support

Q: How can I support the Goshala?

A: You can support us by donating funds, sponsoring a cow's monthly feed, participating in Gopuja events, volunteering your time, or simply purchasing our products. Every contribution — big or small — directly helps the cows.

Q: Can I sponsor a cow?

A: Yes! You can sponsor a cow's monthly maintenance costs. Please contact us through our website or visit the Goshala to know the current sponsorship details.

Q: Are donations tax-exempt?

A: VAPS Akshaya Foundation Trust is a registered trust. Please contact us directly for details about tax exemption certificates and donation receipts.

Q: Can I participate in Gopuja at the Goshala?

A: Absolutely. We warmly invite all cow lovers and devotees to participate in Gopuja and receive the blessings of Gomatha. Please visit our website or call us to know about upcoming events and visiting hours.

6. Team & Expertise

Q: Who runs VAPS Akshaya Foundation?

A: The Goshala is managed by a team of founders who are themselves devoted cow lovers. They pursue their own professions while dedicating time and resources to the Goshala. The team has combined expertise in dairy management, Ayurveda, and natural farming.

Q: What is the team's expertise?

A: Our team brings expertise in three core areas: Dairy Management (feeding, health, breeding of cows), Ayurveda (traditional medicinal uses of cow products), and Natural Farming (sustainable agricultural practices using cow inputs).

Q: Is the Goshala part of a larger organisation?

A: Yes. VAPS Akshaya Foundation Trust is associated with VAPS Group, a well-established organisation based in Bangalore. The Goshala is their primary CSR and social welfare initiative focused on indigenous cow conservation.

7. Visit & Contact

Q: How can I contact the Goshala?

A: You can reach us through our website at vapsfoundation.org. Our office is at No. 72, MIG 1st Stage, 4th Main, 6th Cross, KHB Colony, Basaveshwaranagar, Bangalore — 560079.

Q: Can I visit the Goshala?

A: Yes, visitors and cow devotees are always welcome. The Goshala is located in Ramanagar, Karnataka. Please contact us in advance for visiting hours and to arrange Gopuja participation.

Q: What is your website?

A: Our official website is vapsfoundation.org — you can find information about our products, mission, packages, and how to donate or get involved.

8. Chatbot Fallback Responses

Q: When the user asks something the bot doesn't know

A: Thank you for your question! For detailed or specific information, please visit our website at vapsfoundation.org or get in touch with our team directly. We would love to help you.

Q: Greeting / Welcome message

A: Namaste! Welcome to VAPS Akshaya Foundation — Punyakoti Goshala. We are a family of Desi cow devotees committed to Indian tradition, Ayurveda, and natural farming. How can we help you today? You can ask about our products, how to donate, visiting the Goshala, or anything about our Desi cows.

Q: User says goodbye or thank you

A: Gomatha's blessings be with you! Thank you for your interest in Punyakoti Goshala. Feel free to visit us at vapsfoundation.org for more.